Building Progress

The present year has seen more building here in Monitor, than in any year since 1916, and while there has not been what could be termed a "boom" the increase has been substantial.

Besides the number of dwellings erected there has been a great amount of alterations and additions made to the already existing structures.

There has also been a brisk demand for town lots and only a very few remain unsold at the present time, and judging from the inquiries about town property, the remaining lots will soon be bought up.

In the event of them striking oil here, and present prospects are very bright, this town will surely witness a regular boom.

Some of the dwellings erected this year are as follows: Dr. Mason's, Sam Lewis's, B. R. Cramer's, T. Ulph's, M. Liknes's Co-operative Church Parsonage E. Westlin's, Jas. Glancey's, G. Avery's, and others.

Dr. Mason notified the School Board, yesterday, that they would have to close the local school. There will be no more teaching until after the New Year, owing to the appearance of scarlet fever among the scholars of the junior grades.

There will be a Moving Picture Show, tonight, in the Big Hall, followed by a dance.

The attention of the public is directed to the necessity of early mailing of correspondence and parcels intended for delivery, before Christmas, in Great Britain and other places overseas.

British parcels should be mailed in ample time to connect with steamers sailing from St. John or Halifax the first week in December.

KIRRIEMUIR

Those who patronised the Bazaar last Friday night were just as brave as taking a dip in the Dry Lake. They suffered no after-effects. A few were conspicuous by their absence. The two Reliabs, Mrs. A. V. Houghton and Mrs. E. Morris, bravely "carried on" at their posts. Miss Ryley, school teacher, was an able supporter.

Real Estate has been changing hands briskly. Oh! Jimmy!

The Bank representative has evacuated the place, some say, for ten months. The business men would love to see some people. Their trade would be welcome to the local stores; and papa Boon will be happy with less work.

Miss Effie Aikens left here for the East, on Tuesday, to pursue a business course. She will be greatly missed, as she was a real asset to the Sunday School work. We wish her Good Luck.

No one begrudges Mrs. I. Fleming her well-earned trip. A few farmers have something to learn from this capable forerunner. Just the will to succeed, with a little gray matter that's all.

Alec Aikens returned home, Saturday last, after a good season of carpentry near Kerobert.

Though few in number, an enjoyable Sunday School Session and Social time was held at R. and Mrs. Mitchell's home, last Sunday afternoon.

The 1st Anniversary of the opening of the Co-operative Church building will be celebrated on Sunday evening, Nov. 27th.

Special music and an appropriate message. Everybody welcome.

Local Happenings

Dr. Agnew, Dentist, will be in town for two days, Nov. 28 and 29.

J. H. McGirr was a visitor in Edmonton over the weekend.

L. Seeman and family left on Monday for Alvdor, Oregon, where they will reside in the future. Mr. Seeman disposed of his household and farm goods, by auction, last Wednesday, and has also disposed of his farm property.

Mr. Seeman was one of the early settlers in this district.

H. L. Crisp made a business trip to Calgary the first of the week.

F. Evanoff and family will spend the winter months in Edmonton.

Mrs. Cameron, of St. Brieux, Sask., has been visiting her daughter, Miss R. Cameron, for the past week.

W. J. McCallum, the horse and cattle importer, Brampton Ont., was here during the week and bought up the last of his cattle, which he shipped East yesterday.

There will be a special meeting, in the Schoolhouse on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 3rd at 3 o'clock, to which all those interested in the School Fair are invited.

The members of the School Board are specially requested to be present.

The Stonelaw U. F. A. holds a special meeting at Gregerson School on Friday Nov. 25th at 1 p.m. Forming of a Farm Credit Association will be discussed.

L. O. Gould has received the appointment as Issuer of Marriage Licenses.

Local Happenings

We would like the names of any small children, in this district, who through financial circumstances could not expect a visit from Santa Claus this year. We will see to it that they are not disappointed.

KENNEDY DRUG CO.

Ladies Aid Bazaar

In spite of the stormy nature of the weather and the nip of the atmosphere the Sale of Fancy Goods, held by the Ladies Aid, was a marked success.

The program was greatly abbreviated, owing to the inability of the country talent to venture far from home. That, however, can be saved for a future occasion. The contributions made by the Orchestra to the program were sincerely appreciated, as were also the eloquent efforts of Letia Cramer and Rev. Davidge.

The Auction Sale, conducted by Roy Cramer, was splendidly supported and the quality of the lunch, served cafeteria style was attested to by the patronage it received. The building was comfortably heated, due to the efficient stoking of "C. P." Harley. The grabs and notions found a ready sale and the receipts to date show a total of $200 received, with several items yet to hear from.

The Ladies grasp this opportunity of thanking their patrons for their response in purchasing and express their appreciation of Auctioneer Cramer Clerk McCulloch and Miss Hargrove, Cashier. They also wish to thank Mr. Moth for the use of the Hall, with heating and lighting; the members of Orchestra for their music and to all others co-operating with them for the success of this event.

The boy stood helpless in this confusion. He had always thought of difficulties arising between people, between neighbours, friends, or members of a family because one party was right and the other wrong. It was his first experience of those far more strategic quarrels where both parties are right, or seem to be right. He knew something of the depth of the nature of his parents, and he knew that beneath an undemonstrative exterior they cherished in secret a love proportionate to the strength of their characters. But the long course down which they had walked together seemed now to be separating, through neither will nor power of their own. It was as though straight parallel lines suddenly turned apart, and neither lost its straightness in the turning.

So he comforted his mother with such words as he could. Loyalty to his father forbade laying any of the blame on those shoulders, and to blame his mother was unthinkable; so with unconscious wisdom he spoke not of blame at all. Presently it occurred to him to think of his mother's departure as temporary only, and with joy he found that she readily accepted the notion.

"Of course, while we are away, you shouldn't you have a visit?" he said. "Here you have been chained down to this farm ever since I can remem-

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements.

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a bad, burning, down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared. I felt much benefited generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

ber, and before. We can easily enough arrange about the cows; and Bill can board with one of the neighbours, or batch, and you can just have a good trip and a good rest, and nobody needs it more. And then, when I get settled on my own homestead, you'll come and keep house for me, won't you?"

"You're sure you'll want me?" she asked, greatly comforted by his mood. "Perhaps you'll be getting your own housekeeper, too?"

"Not while I can have you," he answered. "You'll promise, won't you? Nothing that has happened, or can happen, will keep you from making my home yours, will it? And when Dad gets settled again, and gets all those worries off his mind, then things'll be different, and you'll come, even if I lie there?"

"Yes, I'll come, even if I lie there, if you ask me," she promised.

Harris did not come back that night. A light rain came up, and he accepted the excuse to sleep at Riley's. The truth was, he feared for his resolution if it should be attacked by both his wife and son. Surrender now would be mere weakness, and weakness was his, and yet he feared for himself if put to the test again. So he stayed at Riley's, and the two farmers spent much of the night over their plans. Harris had been decided that they were to leave within the next couple of days, but Harris broke the news that his wife was going on a visit, and that arrangements would have to be made for the care of the farm. He carefully concealed the fact that Mary was leaving against his will, or as a result of any difference. Such an admission would have damaged him in the estimation of Riley, who would have put it down to weakness. In Riley's code no insubordination should be tolerated from man or beast, but least of all from a wife. He would have found ready means to suppress any such foolishness.

Riley took the suggestion of a few days' delay with poor grace.

"Yes, an' while you're chasing up an' down for a housekeeper the Yankees get all the homesteads. They're comin' in right now by the trainloads, grabbin' up everything in sight. We'll monkey round here till the summer's over, an' then go out an' get a sand farm, or something like that. Couldn't your wife do her visitin' no other time?"

"I tell you, Riley," said Harris, who had no desire to pursue a topic which might lead him into deep water, "you go ahead out and get the farm, or the land, or whatever you wish in a week. I'll do that, for sure, and I'll stand part of your expenses for going ahead, seein' you will be kind o' respectin' me."

The last touch was a stroke of diplomacy. The suggestion that Harris should pay part of his expenses went away. Riley had honour, and he agreed to go on the date originally planned, and get what he called "a bed on the hay" money, while Harris completed his arrangements at home.

He was to get "a bed on the hay money" in a manner which Harris little suspected.

When Harris returned home the next forenoon he found that Mary had already left for Plainville. He sat down and tried to think, but the house was very quiet, and the silence oppressed him. He looked at his watch, and concluded he had still time to reach Plainville before the train would leave. But that would mean surrender, and surrender meant weakness.

CHAPTER XII.

A Whiff of New Atmosphere

Riley found the journey westward a treacherous affair. His was a soul devoid of enthusiasm over Nature's wealth or magnitude, and the view of the endless prairie excited in him no emotion other than a certain vague discontent. It was his first long rail journey in over twenty years, but his thoughts were on the cost of travel rather than on the wonderful strides which had been made in its comfort and convenience. Riley indulged in no such luxuries as sleeping-car berths or meals served in the diner, and two nights in a crowded day-coach, with such hasty meals as could be bought for a quarter at wayside stations, made the journey a somewhat exhausting one. Back in the observation car, sleek commercial travellers, well groomed and well dressed and enveloped in comfortable self-satisfaction, gravely discussed politics, business or real estate, or exchanged the latest tit-bits of wit accumulated in their travels. Riley probably could have bought and paid for the worldly possessions of the whole group, and have still a comfortable balance in the bank. But a sleeper berth cost the price of two bushels of wheat, and even in a good year Riley's crop seldom exceeded ten thousand bushels.

As fate would have it, Riley selected as the base of his homestead operations the very footfall town to which Beulah Harris had come a few weeks before. He sought out the cheapest hotel, and having thrown his few belongings into the bed, betook himself to the bar-room, which seemed the chief centre of activity, not only of the hotel itself, but of the little town. Men were lined three deep against the capacious bar, shouting, swearing and singing, and spending their money with an abandon not to be found in millionaires. Riley was no great student of human nature; he had a keener eye for a horse than a fellow-man, but the motley crowd interested and in a certain way, amused him. Land-seekers, some in overalls and flannel shirts, some in ready-made with dirty celluloid collars and cheap, gaudy ties, —Big, powerful men with the muscles and manners of the horse—and others, lighter of frame, who apparently made an easier and better living by the employment of their brains; cowboys in shaggy and sun-burnt and silk handkerchiefs; ranches, stately English and French stocky gentlemen still five thousand miles from the place of their breeding; lumbermen and river-drivers, iron bodies set with quick, combative intelligence; hunters, horse-trailers, land dealers, gamblers, sharks, and hangers-on wove back and forth plying the shuttle from which the fabric of a new nation must be wrought.

Riley debated with himself whether the occasion justified the expenditure of time and money. His hand was placed on his shoulder, and a voice said, "Have one with me neighbour." He found himself addressed by a man of about his own age, shorter and somewhat lighter of frame and with a growing hint of corpulence. The stranger, dressed in a good pepper-and-salt suit, and the stone on his finger danced like real diamond.

"Don't mind if I do, since s' mention it," said Riley, with an attempted smile, which his bad eye rendered futile. One of the bartenders put something in his glass which cut all his doubts. He had scarcely forgotten it in a more exciting incident. The man in the pepper-and-salt suit had laid half a dollar on the bar, and no change came back. Riley congratulated himself on his own narrow escape.

"You'll be looking for land?" inquired the stranger, who both were breathing easily again.

"Well, maybe I am, and maybe I ain't," said Riley guardedly. He had heard something of the ways of confidence men, and was determined not to be taken for an easy mark.

"A man of some judgment, I see," said his new acquaintance, quite unabashed. "Well, I don't blame you for keeping your own counsel. The rush of people and money into the West has brought all kinds of floaters in its train. Why?"—with growing confidence—"the other night—"

What happened the other night remained unrecalled, for at that moment came a clattering of horse's hoofs on the wooden walk at the door, and a moment later a galloping cowboy rode right into the room, his horse prancing and boding from side to side to clear the crowd away, then facing up to the bar as though it were his manager. Riley expected trouble, and was surprised when the feat evoked a cheer from the bystanders.

"That's Horseback George," said the man in the pepper-and-salt. "They say he sleeps on his horse. Riley right into the bar as a matter of course, and maybe shoots a few bottles off the shelves as a demonstration before he goes out. But he always settles, and nobody minds his peculiarities."

Horseback George treated himself twice, proffering each glass to his horse before touching it himself, and stroking with one hand the animal's ears as he raised the liquor to his lips. Then he threw a bill at the bartender and, with a wild whoop, slapped the horse's legs with his hat, and dashed at a gallop out of the bar-room and away down the trail.

The stranger was about to resume his conversation when a big fellow nearby shouted in a loud voice, "Come, pard, set 'er up. Who's drinkin' with me?"

No one answered, and the big man looked about the crowd with a deepening scowl.

"So you're not drinkin'?" he said. "Fill two glasses, pard, and set 'em right there." He turned his back to the bar, resting his elbows on it, and surveyed the crowd contemptuously, meanwhile chewing a mouthful of tobacco with a rapid, swinging motion of the jaw.

"Guess you fellows don't know who I am," he said.

"No, and don't give a damn," said a lumberjack nearby.

"Well, you will before you're through. You're goin' to drink with me, an' you'll drink with both hands on the glass. Come up an' take your medicine." As he spoke his hand rested on his hip-pocket.

The head bartender poked him in the ribs. "No gun play here," he said. "You're not in Montana now." "Guess I know where I am," he retorted. "An' what d'ye think I pack a gun for? T' tell the time by? This (not printable) is goin' to drink with me, or I'll fix him so's you c'n see through him both ways." With the word he whipped out a revolver and fired into the floor at the lumberjack's feet, while a considerable part of the crowd scurried for the door.

"Put up your gun, you (equally unprintable)," shouted the lumberjack, throwing his hat on the floor, "and I'll crack your slats quicker'n you can count 'em."

"It's all right, Pete," said the bartender, addressing the lumberjack. "You can lick him hands down, but that won't pay the bills if you get in the road of a bullet. Now you," turning to the other, "stow that artillery, an' stow it quick, or I'll call the Mounted Police."

For answer the stranger took a handful of tobacco from his mouth, and with a swing of his arm plastered it over the mirror behind the bar, so that the Mounted Police, he said, "Now there's goin' to be some drinkin' or some shootin', an' maybe a little o' both." He ploughed the door with another bullet, and the crowd again visibly thinned away. Riley had backed into a corner; the man in the pepper-and-salt suit had disappeared.

Having no weapon, the lumberjack kept his distance, but if epithets could kill his bullying, he would have been carried out a corpse. The man with the revolver, on the other hand, seemed taking his time, playing with his victim, like a wild beast sure of his prey.

Note and Comment

Somewhere in the church, perhaps ahead of you, is an empty pew which is silently eloquent of your duty and privilege. It speaks of your chance to share with others the inspiration of the church service. All that the occasion has meant to you it might mean to them, and more. The message which inspires you, or perhaps was but commonplace to you, might have been a veritable revelation to scores with whom you meet and talk during the week.

If that empty seat were filled it would yield a net gain for all. It would improve the sermon which can never be better than the congregation. No minister can "fill the pulpit" of a half-filled church. That empty pew acts as a short circuit. He cannot throw the current of interest across it.

Every empty seat could be filled without the expenditure of a single extra cent and with infinite profit. Worship, music, sermon, warmth are all there, whatever the congregation. As a matter of economics, success here is certainly cheap, failure is expensive. There is nothing in the church so extravagant as that Empty Pew.

Now the sole cost to you of making the service more stimulating, the sermon more inspiring, the music more effective, the fellowship wider and more humming is, just a kindly word of invitation, a little breaking down of religious reserve, a little extra energy on behalf of your Master and your church.

How can you possibly face that Empty Pew?

An agricultural college staff is experimenting on a cow by feeding her sawdust. When that critter is cut up there ought to be some fine plunked steaks for somebody.

This new yeast-eatingfad saves a fellow a lot of embarrassment and self-consciousness when he buys a cake from the grocer.

The best treatment for that run-down feeling is to bring suit against the owner of the automobile.

Winter came around for its annual visit this year with a bang and in a very surly mood. After we had enjoyed a wonderful stretch of extra fine fall weather somebody had to go and knock the props from under Old Man Winter, and he fell with such a bump that the mercury collapsed into the bottom of the glass and has not yet recovered from the shock.

For the past week the thermometer has been hovering between 20 and 30 degrees below zero with no signs yet of a let up.

Lawson Riggs was the laziest man in town. Everybody admitted it. So Mandy Riggs was to be forgiven when she went at her spouse somewhat hotly.

"Man," she ejaculated. "You all is too dog gone lazy to die, you is!"

"No, Mandy," he replied, feebly, turning over on the other side. "You does me wrong. Ah ain't too lazy to die. But I hopes when I does die, Ah dies at six o'clock in de mawnin'."

"Six o'clock in the mawnin'? How come, you poor trash?"

"Cause dat'll be one mawnin' Ah won't have to get up an' dress."

The soil drifting problem must be attacked in two ways, first, temporary measures to make possible the present control of drifting soil and the growing of a crop and, second, measures that aim to get at the cause of the evil and remove it.

Soil drifting is the result of a lack of cohesiveness or the ability to stick together in the soil. Some light sandy soils will blow the second or third season after being broken from prairie. Such land should never be farmed in a dry windy country. To keep it in its place and grow grain is an impossible proposition, which no wise man will attempt. It should stay in grass. But the average prairie soil does not blow when first cultivated nor for many years after. This is because it is held together by the fibrous roots of the grasses—which were in the prairie sod. When it does begin to blow it is because cultivation and the growing of only soft-rooted crops has ground up and decayed the tough fibrous roots that bound it together. The remedy is obvious, we copy nature and grow grasses again.

To get grasses to grow again on land that has become trouble some, with drifting, requires some attention to detail. The land must be got into favorable condition, and failure often results where grass seeds are sown with grain on land that is short of moisture and full of weed seeds. In order to have conditions suitable for the grass to start it should be sown after summer fallow. Should the condition of the soil be such that spring seeding with wheat would likely be destroyed by drifting, it would be advisable to sow fall rye on the fallow about September 1st or earlier. It would make sufficient growth to hold the soil in the spring, and the grasses could then be sown in the spring among the rye. The growing of grasses to return fibre should be worked into a regular crop rotation, so as to systematize the operations and benefit in a few years the whole farm.

As to choice of grasses to grow to prevent drifting, brome grass is certainly the most effective, it produces the largest amount of fibrous roots and withstands drought the best. —Experimental Farm Note.

Take Advantage of Our Offer

We have made arrangements with the E. H. Heath Co. Limited who publish the CANADIAN POWER FARMER whereby we are able to offer that farm magazine together with our own weekly at the one price for both papers.

The CANADIAN POWER FARMER is Western Canada's biggest farm monthly. It is now in its twentieth year which means that it is thoroughly established throughout the West. It deals with the mechanical side of the farm. Every issue is full of helpful hints and experiences on the operation of all kinds of farm machinery from a washing-machine to a tractor. Its editor has just completed a trip of several months over Western Canada in a motor car for the purpose of studying the mechanical needs of the farmers. He visited the farmers, lived with them and worked with them. The results of his trip will appear during the next twelve months.

This offer may be withdrawn at any time. Without doubt your intention is to renew for this weekly, then why not take advantage now. Your subscription to this weekly together with a year's subscription to THE CANADIAN POWER FARMER for the same price as this weekly alone. This is where you make $1.50 on a bushel of wheat.

Mail your cheque or drop into our office the first time you are in town.

The Federal Elections

It is a commonplace in all election campaigns for speakers to declare that that particular election contest is the most vitally important one ever held in the history of the country. To some extent, perhaps, such a statement is correct, because, as time passes and a country grows in population and wealth, coupled with the onward march of education, science and invention, national issues and problems become greater and more complex, and naturally more is at stake in reaching a right or wrong decision than was the case in years past when we lived in other and less strenuous times.

In one respect at least such a declaration this year has a weight and meaning that ordinarily does not attach to it. Usually the people of Canada are given an opportunity of passing judgment upon the men who administer their domestic affairs, and recording their verdict on domestic questions, every four or five years. It is, however, ten years since the people of this Dominion had an opportunity to make their wishes known in regard to policies having a direct bearing on questions of domestic concern.

In the last general election in Canada domestic questions were not up for consideration, and they played but a small part with the electors in the marking of the ballots. The issue in 1917 was a war issue. It occupied the minds and hearts of the people to the exclusion of everything else. It eliminated old party lines and broke party allegiances extending over generations. Tariffs, financial administration, domestic problems of all kinds, were thrown, temporarily at least, into the discard. The issue in the minds of the people, practically to the exclusion of everything else, was whether the Military Service Act should stand or fall.

Thousands of Conservatives who in 1917 voted for Liberals and Liberal-Unionists, and thousands of Liberals who voted for Conservatives and Conservative-Unionists, and in so doing sunk all party views, confidently expected that, as soon as the war was over, they would be given an early opportunity to express their views on purely domestic questions. Three years have passed since the signing of the Armistice, and the long waited opportunity has now come. For the first time since the Reciprocity election of 1911, the people of Canada will, on December 6th next, declare their will in regard to matters of policy and administration affecting purely domestic affairs. No question of war, or Empire, or foreign policy is involved in the present contest. The issue can be decided with an eye and mind single to the individual voters conception of what is best for Canada in a purely domestic sense.

During the decade that has elapsed many things have transpired which cannot have failed to broaden the vision of the people of Canada. The war itself, and the after-effects of that great struggle, have left an indelible mark. In 1911 men only enjoyed the right of the franchise; on December 6 women will go to the polls and cast their ballots on a basis of full equality in citizenship with men. Questions vitally affecting the material welfare of the Dominion are to be decided, but there has arisen a new conception of the duty of government towards the social and moral well-being of the people who in themselves constitute the nation.

In 1911 doubts were cast, unjustly so, on the loyalty of many Canadians over what was, after all, solely a domestic question. But the war settled all doubts as to the loyalty of the people of this Dominion. They proved themselves Canadian and British both in the East and the West. The war settled the loyalty cry forever, thereby rendering a great service to this country, and any man who tries to resurrect it will prove himself a traitor to Canada and a mighty poor politician.

For these reasons alone it is well within the bounds of truth to say that the approaching election day is a most momentous one in the history of the country, and probably the most important since the dawn of Confederation. It presents an opportunity for the exercise of good citizenship for which all Canadians have been eagerly waiting. Old hard and fast party lines have been shattered, whether for good or ill time alone can tell. New ideas in governmental forms and methods are prevalent; the franchise has been broadened to its utmost limits; new party leaders are directing affairs; a new national conscience has been awakened.

It, therefore, behooves every man and every woman not only to exercise the right of their great national birthright—the marking of a free ballot—but to perform that act only after the most careful study of national problems and with intelligence and an eye single to the welfare of Canada. The popularity or personality of the individual candidate is one thing, but the voter cannot wisely be guided by that alone; he or she must take a bigger, broader look ahead and consider opposing policies in the light of present-day conditions and needs and the prospective requirements of the Dominion. Old party enthusiasms have waned, but let there be a new, greater and better enthusiasm on election day—an enthusiasm for Canada itself.

Earl Beatty, admiral of the fleet, placed it on the flag, and saluted as the stepped back. Then, General the Earl of Cavan, representing the King in person, spoke briefly of the services this humble soldier had rendered not only to the United States, but the world, there in France.

Marshal Foch, of France, stepped forward, and with every show of feeling, placed above the quiet breast the Medaille Militaire and the Croix de Guerre. He cited this dead soldier for valor, speaking in French, saluted, and turned away to let General Diaz bring forward and pin in place Italy's gold medal for bravery.

New Canal Needed

Panama Will Soon Be Too Small for World's Commerce

It is proposed that the American continent should be cut through again. The present Panama Canal is used by an ever-increasing number of ships, and all the authorities are agreed that in fifteen years' time it will be quite inadequate for the world's commerce.

There is a possibility that, instead of making a second canal at Panama, the Nicaraguan route may be followed. This was the original plan of the Americans before they took over the French works at Panama, and as far back as 1826 a survey was undertaken there on behalf of a British company. Owing to climatic causes ships would have to spend 45 hours more on the Nicaraguan route than by way of Panama, but against this the distance to San Francisco and New York ends of the Nicaraguan Canal would be 500 miles shorter than from the ends of the Panama Canal.

KEEP HEALTHY DURING WINTER

Colds and Diseases May be Avoided if the Blood is Kept Pure

Do not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency towards anemia, or bloodlessness, winter is a trying season. Lack of exercise and fresh air, and the more restricted diet, are among the many things that combine to lower the tone of the body and deplete the blood.

As soon as you notice the tired feeling, lack of appetite and shortness of breath that are warning symptoms of this blood, take a short course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Do not wait until the color has entirely left your cheeks, until your lips are white and your eyes dull. It is so much easier to correct thinning of the blood in the earlier stages than later. This is well illustrated in the case of Mrs. E. Williams, Elk Lake, Ont., who says:—"I take great pleasure in letting you know the benefit I have found in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was in an anemic condition, and was very weak and run down. The least exertion would leave me breathless and it was with difficulty that I did household work. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after the use of four boxes I felt like a new person. In fact my system seemed filled with new energy and new life. I strongly recommend this medicine to all who feel weak, or run down."

The purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are for this reason an invaluable remedy in diseases arising from bad or deficient blood, as rheumatism, neuralgia, after-effects of the grip or fevers. The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Regina Man Thinks He Would Be Selfish Not To Relate Experience

"When a man has been benefited by a medicine like I have been by Tanlac I think it would be selfish of him not to come out and tell what he knows," said Aleck G. Munro, 1261 McTavish street, Regina, Sask.

"I haven't words to describe what I went through with on account of indigestion. No matter how careful I was about what I ate or how little I ate, I was sure to be bloated up with gas afterwards. Sometimes my breath would be cut off so I could scarcely breathe. I actually got to the point where I dreaded to go to the table, and I shudder now when I think of how I suffered.

"I feel like a new man now, though, thanks to Tanlac. Actually this medicine has done me more good than I ever dreamed was possible. I never have any trouble from indigestion now, although I have a splendid appetite. I sleep all night long without waking once, and get up in the morning feeling fine and I work better than I have in years. I certainly advise people who suffer as I did to take Tanlac. I am confident it will help them."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists and general merchants everywhere.

The Too-Anxious Mother
A certain Irish Member of Parliament, popular and a bachelor, had been very polite to the daughter of the house where he was visiting. When the time came for him to go, the too-anxious mamma called him in for a serious talk. "I'm sure I don't know what to say," she went on, "his reported all about that you are to marry Letitia." "Just say that she refused me," quietly advised the parliamentarian.

Long Life Secret

Physiology and not medicine was given as the secret of longevity by Dr. A. H. Warner, of New York, in an address to the Allied Medical Association of America. Because the Bible says that a life shall be three score years and ten people expect to die when they reach that age, declared Dr. Warner. Gave a sound constitution and a clean record, there is no reason why a man or woman should not reach 150 years. It is simply a matter of psychology and good living.

Silence?

The reading lesson had begun, and it was Tommy's turn to read aloud. He came to the sentence, "Silence reigned in the house."

"Now," said the teacher, "can you tell me what silence it?"

Tommy thought for a minute, then said eagerly: "Yes, teacher, I know; it's what you don't hear when you listen."

"Pa, if it takes ten mills to make a cent, how many factories does it take?"

"One, my boy, if it's a glue factory!"

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

This Woman's Letter Tells You How To Pass The Crisis Safely.

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lascelles, Prov. Quebec.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ear, palpitation of the heart, spasms before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women, and let Lydia E. Real Rest Depends Largely Upon the Depth of Your Sleep

A warning to "light" or "poor" sleepers

The deeper and sounder you sleep the better you feel. Five hours sound refreshing sleep does you more actual good than ten hours restless, disturbed sleep.

This is because the final conversion of food into vital tissue and nerve cells goes on more rapidly when the physical and mental forces are at rest.

You can't get sound, refreshing sleep if your nerves are agitated with tea or coffee. Both these drinks contain caffeine, which is sometimes very irritating to the brain and nervous system.

If you want to know the joy, vigor and stamina that comes to the person who gets sound, healthful sleep, why not stop taking tea or coffee for a while, and drink delicious, invigorating Postum instead.

Thousands of people everywhere have found that this was the only thing they needed in order to bring about these very happy results.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this delightful cereal beverage of satisfying flavor, for a week. Perhaps, like thousands of others, you'll never be willing to go back to tea or coffee.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Cereal Cakes (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Corporation of London Takes Output of Czech-Slovak Mines

After prolonged negotiations, Mr. Sidney Reilly, on behalf of the Imperial and Foreign Corporation of London, has signed an agreement with the Czech-Slovak Government for a monopoly of the entire output of radium from the Czech-Slovak States mines.

The basis of the contract is that the radium mines remain the property of Czech-Slovakia, but will be farmed out to the corporation for a number of years. This event of great importance, because Czech-Slovakia possesses practically the only radium mines in Europe. The present market price of radium is $25,000 (sterling) per gramme.—(The London Times)

What Mrs. Beesley says thousands of other mothers say. Coolies' Power of Endurance

Can Carry Heavy Loads Over Long Distances

According to an Indian traveller immense weights can be carried by coolies of the Himalayas, where the Mount Everest climbers are now.

This traveller says he has known personally plenty of instances where coolies, carrying merchandise to places where no wheeled transport is possible, have borne loads up to 200 pounds day after day over rough roads, through steep hills and valleys; and it is a common thing for coolies to carry a tea-chest weighing 130 pounds for distances of six miles up a long ascent of over 3,000 feet.

The Modish Black Dress for Afternoon

By Marie Belmont

The black frock is still in high favor, although sometimes one may glimpse a touch of brilliant color in its sleeves, the lining of the sash or some other detail. This dress is fabricated from a rather heavy black crepe combined with black chiffon velvet. The latter is chosen for the development of the long-waisted and rather snug-fitting bodice. This is lavishly embroidered in jet. A band of the crepe outlines the neck opening, while the deep loose cuffs are also made of black crepe. This same decoration appears about the lower edges of the skirt.

Athabaska And Slave River District

The oil producing possibilities of the Mackenzie district have awakened interest in Northwestern Canada to such a degree that an active demand for information regarding the undeveloped resources of the various localities is reported by the Department of the Interior.
In order to provide authentic information with respect to the Athabaska and Slave River districts the Department, thru its Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, has published an interesting report on the natural resources of this territory.
A map of the district provides further particulars with respect to transportation facilities and general topography. A copy of "The Athabaska and Slave River District" may be obtained free upon application to the

The Church & Its Work

By the Rev. W. S. Wickenden

ADVENT

The day and the hour of the Return of our Lord Jesus Christ knoweth no man. But
He told His disciples to 'Watch.'
For many centuries the Church has observed the four Sundays preceding Christmas as a preparation for that joyful day and in contemplating the Lord's Second Coming.

"Hark" a thrilling voice is sounding:

"Christ is nigh," it seems to say
Cast away the dreams of darkness,

O ye children of the day.

During the Advent Season the Rev. Wickenden intends to preach on Facts and Features of the Lord's Return.

Don't lay your Ford up for the Winter

With a little adjustment it will face
"20 below" as cheerfully as "90 in the shade," but between ourselves, don't you think your Ford is entitled to a little skilled attention about now?

It has put in a lot of overtime since Spring, and maybe you haven't been quite as attentive with the oil and grease as you might have been.

Run it in--we will tell you in advance what the cost will be, and there will be no delay in getting the work done.

China Wants Chance To Play Her Part In World Advancement

Washington.—Preservation of "international integrity and political and administrative independence," together with preservation of the open-door policy and a prohibition against secret treaties in the Far East were included in the Chinese proposals at the Armament Conference on Far Eastern questions.

China in return would agree "not to alienate or lease any portion of her territory" to any foreign power, and all special rights, privileges, immunities or commitments, now held in China by foreign powers are to be carefully re-examined.

All existing limitations upon China's political, jurisdiction and administrative freedom of action would be removed and provision made for future conferences from time to time for international discussion of the far eastern situation.

The Chinese proposals provide for full respect for China's rights as a neutral in all future wars to which the nation is not a party and for peaceful settlement of international disputes in the Pacific and the far east.

Dr. Wellington Koo, who presented the Chinese proposals, said they were made in the interest of all powers involved in the Far East as well as of China and if adopted would pave the way toward solving some of the perplexing problems in laying a firmer foundation of the Pacific and Far East.

"China is anxious to play her part, not only in maintaining peace, but in promoting the material advancements and the cultural developments of all the nations. She wishes to make her vast natural resources available to all peoples who need them, and in return to receive the benefits of free and equal intercourse with them. In order that she may do this, it is necessary that she should have every possible opportunity to develop her political institutions in accordance with the genius and needs of her own people. China is contending with certain difficult problems which necessarily arise when any country makes a radical change in her form of government.

"These problems she will be able to solve if given the opportunity to do so. This means not only that she should be free from danger of threat of foreign aggressions but so far as circumstances will possibly permit, she be relieved from limitations which now deprive her of autonomous administrative action and prevent her from securing adequate public revenues.

Increase in Value of Building Permits

Total of Fifty-Six Canadian Cities Shows Gain

Ottawa.—The total value of building permits in 56 Canadian cities during September last was $9,888,157 as compared with $9,654,085 in August, and with $9,174,181 in September of last year.

Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia registered gains over the preceding month, while New Brunswick, Manitoba and Saskatchewan reported decreases.

Rebels Attack British

One Officer and Three Men Killed by Moplahs

London.—A Reuters cable, from Delhi, India, says a company of the Gurkha Rifles Regiment, holding the Pandikad post, had a sharp engagement with 2,000 Moplah rebels, who attacked vigorously. Two-thirds of the rebels were killed, while one British officer and three men were killed and 34 men wounded. One gun and a number of knives were captured. The record of other operations also discloses the use of artillery by the rebels.

Germany Able to Pay Berlin.—The report that Germany has notified the allies that she will be unable to meet the next reparations installment is emphatically denied in official German quarters. A similar denial is made in entente diplomatic circles which are in close touch with the negotiations now proceeding with the reparations commission.

Factory Explosion Kills Twelve

Accident in Prussia Forty Miles North of Oppau

Mayence.—Twelve people have been killed and 60 injured in an explosion in a factory at Dotzhim, a short distance from Wiesbaden, Prussia. The damage to the factory is estimated at 25,000 marks.

General Degoutie, commander of the French troops in that district, visited the injured and his men assisted in the rescue work. Steps are being taken by the French to relieve the distress of the survivors. Dotzhim is 40 miles north of Oppau, where an explosion in a plant on September 21, killed 1,000 persons, injured about 4,000 others and laid in waste the entire factory and the village at Oppau.

Britain Denies Soviet Charge

Says Evidence of Bolshevik Propaganda Not Based on Facts

London.—The British Government, it was announced, has handed the Soviet Government at Moscow a firmly worded note absolutely denying the allegations of Foreign Minister Chicherin that the British evidence of hostile Bolshevik propaganda in Central Asia and Afghanistan was founded on forged documents, German or otherwise. The note declares that the Soviet reply of Sept. 26 to the former note of Lord Curzon, the British foreign minister, apart from the allegations now denied by Lord Curzon consisted chiefly of quibbles regarding positions held by officials and that no attempt was made to answer the very serious charges of Russian hostile propaganda in Persia or Central Asia.

Cattle Shipped From Montreal

Big Revival of Export Trade Is Looked For

Montreal.—A big revival of the Canadian export cattle trade to Great Britain is now to be regarded as certain as far as Montreal port is concerned. Up to date, thirty thousand head, or Canadian cattle have been shipped to Britain during the past six months, and with several ships still to be loaded, the thirty-five thousand mark may be reached before the season closes.

Britain Disposing of War Supplies

London.—The government is rapidly disposing of the large amount of war stocks. Surplus stores worth £675,000,000 have been disposed of since the armistice. Liquidation is practically completed on the continent, and it is hoped shortly to close down in Egypt.

Believes No Danger Of Indian Revolution

Detroit, Mich.—Belief that there is no foundation for rumors of an impending revolution in India was expressed by Bishop H. L. Smith, of India, one of the speakers of the National Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Lack of friendship between the Mohammedans and Hindus would tend to prevent such a movement, he said. Bishop Smith declared British control of India must be continued, "if anarchy is to be averted."

British Press Doubts Wisdom Of Proposals Made By Balfour

London.—The modification to the United States disarmament proposals suggested before the conference at Washington by Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, have met with a varied reception at the hands of the press. The Westminster Gazette says that his statement gives cause for the very gravest misgivings and disappointment, and proceeds to note in particular his suggestion that the programme of battle-ships replacement be carried on from year to year to save armament works from total destruction.

"The suggested reservation," it says, "amounts to a proposal that we keep alive not only the vested interests of war but the whole spirit and tradition of naval competition as a sacred flame ready to burst into full blaze the moment the holiday is over."

The Daily News says regarding the suggestion that replacement be permitted continuously on a fixed scale: "This seems a dangerous breach of the whole conception of a naval holiday, which might well prove disastrous to the U.S. plan." It believes that the British public would support an absolute embargo on submarines.

The most antagonistic of the morning papers is the Morning Post, which dilates on Great Britain's exceptional position in the need to protect all lines of communication. Britain and her Dominions, it says, must be able to help one another across the oceans unhindered.

The Daily Mail declares that there is everything to be said for Mr. Balfour's suggestions as submarine warfare is most unhuman.

The London Times quoted the Cape Town Times as saying that Secretary Hughes' proposal for a naval holiday marked the most remarkable event since the outbreak of the war.

Bandit Identified By Finger Prints

Believed Responsible For Mail Car Robbery Near Moose Jaw

Phoenix, Ariz.—A bandit captured here at the Santa Fe station, following an attempt to rob a mail car, was identified by finger prints as Roy Gardner, who recently escaped from the federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island.

According to the police, Gardner admitted his identity.

Winnipeg.—Roy Gardner, escaped convict from McNeil's Island penitentiary, reported arrested at Phoenix, Ariz., was credited by railway police with having been responsible for the robbery of an express car on the Canadian Pacific Railway near Moose Jaw on October 19, getting away with $5,000. On September 22 the Canadian National Railway express was held up at Tofield, Alta., several registered packages being stolen. Descriptions of Gardner, received from the Washington penitentiary, tallied with those of the bandit in both cases.

Moose Jaw.—Canadian Pacific investigation authorities here, when notified that Roy Gardner had been arrested, declared they were still convinced that Gardner robbed train No. 4 on the morning of October 19. It was stated Gardner would not likely be brought back to Moose Jaw for trial, as he already had a 50-year sentence ahead of him in the United States.

Filipinos Drowned in Manila Bay Manila.—Fifty-eight Filipinos, many of them women and children, were drowned at the entrance to Manila Bay, when the interisland steamer Maria Luisa foundered in a heavy sea. Seventy-two others were picked up by a Japanese steamer.

You're Constipated! Take "Cascarets" For Liver, Bowels

Sick headache, biliousness coated tongue or sour gassy stomach—always trace this to torpid liver and delayed fermenting food in the bowels. Cascarets work while you sleep. They immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels. Get a 10-cent box now and let "Cascarets" straighten you out by morning.

Mother! Move Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bus, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Rob Liquor Store and Escape Grand Forks, B.C.—Robert Campbell, government liquor store vendor here, was held up and robbed of $200 by two armed men. The men were located in the west end of the town by police officers, and engaged in a running gun fight with the bandits, but the men made good their escape.

Montreal.—A verdict of suicide was returned at the inquest into the death of Louis Gagnon, who fatally shot himself after wounding Sir Andrew MacPhail in the shoulder. Sir Andrew's condition is reported as very satisfactory.

Imperial Oil Company's Outfit Destroyed By Early Morning Fire

The Imperial Oil Company's drilling outfit, south of town, was completely destroyed by fire which broke out, in the derrick-house, about 5.30 on Friday morning. Within a few minutes the tall derrick was a mass of flames and collapsed in a heap with a terrific crash.

The flames spread with great rapidity and the engine house and connecting buildings were soon reduced to smouldering ruins. The engine was a 125 h. p. gas marine, and was valued at about $5200.00. It is not known definitely what the total loss will be until a check-up is made of the tools, etc.

While the cause of the fire is not known it is rumored that the gas escaping from the well became ignited and caused the loss sustained, but the members of the crew would not vouchsafe any information for publication.

Now that the cold weather has apparently set in it is not thought likely that the company will make any further efforts to continue drilling until the Spring.
